CALLING ALL MULTINATIONAL COMPANIES: BROOKFIELD GLOBAL RELOCATION SERVICES INVITES FIRMS WORLDWIDE TO PARTICIPATE IN ACCLAIMED ANNUAL SURVEY

Woodridge, Ill., Sep. 23, 2010 – Brookfield Global Relocation Services (<http://www.brookfieldgrs.com>) is inviting multinational companies worldwide to participate in its acclaimed annual “Global Relocation Trends Survey.” Now in its 16th year, the survey has become the definitive study of companies’ global employee-relocation practices, mobility policies and trends.

The survey’s longevity and extensive data gleaned from years of research, enable Brookfield Global Relocation Services to compare each year’s results with historical averages, which help gauge the relative importance of annual variations. Brookfield Global Relocation Services will release the results of the annual survey, along with its analysis, in early 2011.

The company is issuing a worldwide call for companies to participate in the survey and as a result, help to continue to uncover key trends shaping international mobility. Survey respondents’ information is kept confidential.

The questionnaire for the upcoming survey is available at www.brookfieldgrs.com/grts2.html. All survey participants will receive a complimentary copy of the survey results.

Each year, the Global Relocation Trends Survey paints a comprehensive picture of evolving trends and emerging issues facing companies of all sizes that rely on an internationally mobile workforce. For example, the 15th annual survey, released earlier this year, found that despite last year’s deep cuts, almost half of the companies (44 percent) expected their international assignee populations to expand. Meanwhile, 44 percent of respondents expected their overseas assignments to remain the same, while 12 percent forecast a decrease.

Results of the survey have been published in such major publications as Newsweek, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal and The International Herald Tribune, to name a few.

“Thanks to the participation of human resource leaders worldwide, the Global Relocation Trends Survey has grown to become one of the industry’s most valuable resources for research, trends and information on global mobility,” said Scott Sullivan, executive vice president of Brookfield Global Relocation Services. “We look forward to compiling and sharing the latest trends, strategies and tactics employers are developing to improve the effectiveness of their international assignment programs.

In addition to the annual Global Relocation Trends Survey, Brookfield Relocation Services conducts additional global research and makes it available at http://www.brookfieldgrs.com/knowledge/access\_form/.
